Empire Day Address Given by Mayor Knott

Mayor Knott of Edmonton, who was the speaker at the Wetaskiwin Kiwanis Club luncheon Tuesday evening, made special reference to Empire Day, and asserted it was with feelings of pride he was privileged to be born under the British flag. After the four years of depression, he was confident that Great Britain, with her traditions, institutions, past history and indomitable spirit would lead us out of our present difficulties. In the time of crisis the political parties of Great Britain united on one man, the Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, as leader. He was one of the foremost statesmen today, and as a result of his visit to President Roosevelt of the U.S., some scheme will probably be worked out that will lead to a new social order which will enable men to lead a life to their liking unhampered. There is no way out unless there is an assurance of peace, and no nation can carry out any definite program unless there is an understanding with the other nations. The great nations appear to be getting an understanding which will assure the peace of Europe.

Britain's financial experts have had greater experience than any other nation, and when she went off the gold standard it was for a specific purpose, and since that time Britain had increased her international trade. If it had not been for the unemployment insurance Britain would likely have had a revolution. In Canada relief is due in its most aggravated form. The relief has helped things out in Canada without a system, but in Great Britain there is a system.

Roosevelt has been given greater powers than Mussolini and Hitler, and if he can place twelve million men back to work, as he claims he can, it will be an example to other nations.

Many nations were represented in Alberta, and as they have brought the best traditions with them, our province will eventually be one of the best in Canada. The economic condition has been a real tragedy to the young men of today, as after living for three years without working, many will not now accept work. Until men are put back to work little improvement in conditions can be expected. One of the greatest needs of the day is for people to work together to make an aggressive citizenship and to improve the moral of the nation.

SEVERAL SERIOUS OFFENCES CONSIDERED BY MAGISTRATE

Mike Medwid, Alex Hartwell and Ben Decan, all of Edmonton, were before Police Magistrate R. M. Angus on a charge of riotous and disorderly conduct at a farm house near Brightview. A number of witnesses were heard, and all three were found guilty and fined $10 and costs each or 30 days. Medwid and Hartwell being short on finances, took the 30 days.

Mike was also found guilty of being intoxicated and received an additional 30 days, and as he was under 21 years of age further trouble arose as Hartwell and Decan were then both charged with supplying liquor to a minor, found guilty, and sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs or 30 days. Decan paid his fine, but Hartwell elected to serve the time. There was still further trouble for Alex Hartwell, for as the result of evidence brought out at the previous hearing, he was charged by Const. Crouch with being in possession of illicit liquor, found guilty, and the Magistrate handed him a further penalty of $300 and costs or three months' hard labor. As he had more time than money, he chose to take the time. The cases were prosecuted by Const. R. N. Crouch, R.C.M.P.

Paul Arthur Steeves, a transient on route from Stettler via Lacombe, was arrested and taken off a side-door Pullman by Chief Constable McIlhargey on information received from Constable Marks of Bashaw. He was later brought before Magistrate Angus charged with indecently assaulting a 13-year-old girl at Tees, Alberta, east of Lacombe. Owing to mitigating circumstances and the fact that nothing serious had occurred, the Magistrate took a very lenient view of the matter and gave him six months in the Provincial goal. The maximum penalty for this offence is two years and whipping. He also got a further 14 days for an infraction of the Railways Act. Const. R. H. Marks of Bashaw, prosecuted the case.

E. W. Florentine, investigator of the C.P.R., stopped off in Wetaskiwin, and as a result of his visit, nine men who persisted in riding the passenger train without having the necessary passboards, are all making a short visit with Warden McLean of the Fort Saskatchewan goal.

HUNDREDS WINDOW PANES ARE BROKEN IN CEYLON, SASK.

Ceylon, Sask., May 23.—One barn was leveled and hundreds of windows broken by hail last night during a storm accompanied by heavy rain, hail and wind which reached cyclonic proportions at times.

Heaviest damage was reported on the Vermilion farm, eight miles south of here, where the barn, used by the community for barn dances, was reduced to kindling wood. Other farm buildings in the district were damaged and one farmer reported his small garage had been lifted and deposited on top of the house. Roads throughout the area were rendered impassable by the heavy rain fall which caused all ditches to overflow.

Bawf, May 14.—Neighbors and friends went to the Jens Olson farm Saturday and plowed, harrowed and seeded Mr. Olson's fields. In all, 15 outfits were in operation there. Mr. Olson has been ill during the past winter and this neighborhood act will be greatly appreciated.

Women's Institute to Hold Meetings Biennially

Calgary, May 17.—Resolution "That the next convention of the Alberta Women's Institute be held two years from now, and if finances permit, full fares of official convention delegates be paid," was passed with a large majority at the opening convention session of the Alberta Women's Institute in Calgary Wednesday.

It was pointed out that a biennial convention will effect a surplus of $400 against a deficit of $800, which an annual convention at the present time would mean.

Resolution to reduce the provincial levy of $1.00 per capita was lost by a large majority. The matter of the directors visiting conferences, was also discussed, and this will be left to the decision of the incoming council.

Work and representation of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada was explained by Mrs. H. A. Rogers, first vice-president and Mrs. J. N. Beaulieu, secretary, and the appointment of Mrs. J. P. Ferguson, Trochu, as federated representative, made by the council, was ratified by the convention.

The cost source of revenue of the Alberta Women's Institutes is the provincial levy of $1.00 per member. Last year this amounting to approximately $3,000, obligations to meet from these are: Office expenses $1,000, travelling expenses of directors to W.I. meetings $795; convention expenses $1,800; fees to Federated Institutes of Canada, $300; printing annual report $150; girls' clubs' grant $150; president's allowance $200; a total of $4,395.

Mrs. W. H. Fleming, Alliance, Mrs. D. H. Garbath, Vulcan, and Mrs. J. Fulcher, Millet, were appointed members of the resolutions committee.

Mrs. J. P. Ferguson, Trochu, was elected president of the Alberta Women's Institutes for the next biennial term at their convention, in Calgary, Thursday. Mrs. William Stewart, Peace River, was elected first vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Campbell, Milk River, recording secretary. There were many nominees for the four directors' offices, but the successful candidates are: Mrs. M. R. Upton, Berwyn, district number one (acclamation); Mrs. W. A. Brown, Paradise Valley, district number two; Mrs. E. H. Lonsdale, district number three; and Mrs. M. L. Thompson, Coaldale, district number four.

ALBERTA MILK PRICE PROBE WILL COMMENCE JUNE 5

Edmonton, May 23.—Probe into milk prices, to be undertaken by the public utilities commission, probably will open in the week of June 5, with sittings in Edmonton, according to A. A. Carpenter, chairman of the board.

Next Saturday the chairman will leave for Winnipeg to obtain full information concerning the milk price inquiry here. In that province by the public utilities commission, it is believed that the experience of the Manitoba board will be of assistance in carrying on the probe in this province.

Definite information concerning the matters which are to be investigated by the Alberta board has not yet been provided by the parties interested.

So far as is known, the milk producers in Edmonton and Calgary are likely to submit a joint case, in claiming that they are entitled to a larger return on their product. There also is the probability that the board will investigate the spread between the producer and the distributor.

While the board will require some technical assistance in carrying on the inquiry, no appointment has been made.

At the last session of the legislature one of the acts passed was an amendment to the Public Utilities act which gives power to the utilities board to regulate and control prices in the event of a milk war or inquiry into prices.

ALBERTA SMALL TOWNS WIN PRAISE AT MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Edmonton, May 20.—Group entries from Alberta's small towns won an effective entrance in the third session of the Edmonton District festival in McDougall auditorium on Friday evening, making an interesting conclusion to the gala day provided by some 67 large choruses from the Edmonton public schools.

The out-of-town choirs were entered in the church choirs from towns not exceeding 3,000 population—St. Andrew's United Church choir, Lacombe; Lawrence Wright, conductor; and United Church choir, Camrose; J. W. C. Markle, conductor.

The adjudicator awarded the winning marks to St. Andrew's United Church choir of Lacombe, conducted by Lawrence Wright, with 171. St. Mark's Church choir, Edmonton, K. A. MacLure, conductor, came second with 164, and third place was taken by the Highlands United Church choir, Edmonton, directed by S. C. Jones with 153 marks.

AUTOS MUST CARRY RED REFLECTORS

Type of reflector to be used on automobiles in Alberta under provisions of the amending bill to the Vehicles and Highways Traffic Act passed at the last session of the legislature and providing that all cars on a highway at night or parked, must either carry lights or a reflector has been decided on by the authorities.

The reflector is to be a circular lens not less than three inches in diameter, backed by a reflecting material mounted in a substantial case sufficient to protect the reflecting material from moisture or dust and so constructed that under normal atmospheric conditions at night it will give a red reflection to the light from headlights of a motor vehicle within a distance of at least 200 feet if either of those lights is within two degrees of a line projected at right angles to the plane of the reflector and from the car thereon.

The Act will be brought into effect as from June 1.

Camrose, May 20.—Revival of the Camrose summer exhibition, formerly one of the "B" circuit fairs, has been decided upon. It will be a three-day fair, August 7, 8, 9, and includes one of the largest baseball tournaments in the province. Horse racing will be revived as a new attraction.

The Dominion of New Zealand, by way of advertising their products, are awarding handsome prizes throughout the British Isles for the best dressed windows of the Dominion's products, mainly butter, cheese and meat. Over 140 stores competed in Edinburgh alone, and the rivalry was said to be exceedingly keen.

Alberta Crop Report No. 4

(Issued by the Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, Saturday, May 20th, 1933.)

With the 1933 spring season now definitely recorded as one of the wettest and most backward in the province's history, the Alberta Department of Agriculture issues its fourth fortnightly crop report with some portion of the intended wheat area in the central and northern areas of the province still unseeded, and with very little coarse grain seeding finished anywhere.

A period of excellent weather following the setbacks recorded in the last Departmental report, was again interrupted about May 16th with fairly heavy snow storm, which was quite general, and which, though adding satisfactorily to the already heavy spring precipitation records of many districts, kept seeding back for two or three days more. Operations are once more under way, however, and indications are for satisfactory progress.

The general situation at the present date is that in the south-eastern and east-central areas, seeding will be practically completed this week with about 50 per cent of the crop above ground. In the south-western and west-central parts of the province, and along the foothills there is considerable wheat seeding yet to be done and the percentage of wheat above ground is comparatively small.

In the Peace River area and the north-eastern parts percentage of seeding completed is at this late date rather low being not more than 15 to 25 per cent.

All wheat above ground is showing healthy growth and germination generally seems to have been satisfactory, in some places more rapid than for some years. One of the beneficial results of the heavy general precipitation in the province has been the halting of all soil drifting.

The tangible result of the spring weather conditions will be a fairly considerable reduction in wheat acreage, although probably not so much of this as of the springing of wheat to a greater extent than usual. A few districts report reductions in acreage as high as 15 and 20 per cent, but others between 5 and 10 per cent.

Features are coming on well, and live stock is in good condition. Beef cattle are to be heavier this year than last, with a slightly better price prevailing. Already several fine shipments have gone forward to England, and several thousand head are remaining on feed lots under contract still to be finished.

Precipitation Records

Records of precipitation since May 1, bear out the fact that this has been one of the wettest spring seasons in years. The Lacombe-Red Deer Olds district has had the heaviest fall, and this area has suffered more severely than others in the springing year. Southern Alberta has received a very large and unusual share of moisture. Nearly all points reporting show good records.

Obituary

ERIC SJOBERG

Mr. Eric Sjoberg of the Falun district, passed away at the Wetaskiwin hospital on Saturday, May 20, at the age of 80 years, 7 months and 17 days. He was born in Sweden and came from there to Alberta in 1906, and has resided in the Falun district since.

He leaves to mourn his loss, one brother, O. Sjoberg, of Falun, and one sister, Mrs. S. Sjoberg, of Falun. The funeral service was held on Tuesday afternoon, May 23rd, at Moore's Funeral Home. Rev. P. M. Meyer officiated and interment took place in the Wetaskiwin cemetery.

BABY BOBO

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bobo in the loss of their infant son, aged fifteen days, who was taken from them in the Community Hospital on Monday. The remains were laid away in the Wetaskiwin cemetery Tuesday, the service being conducted by Rev. A. M. Trendell.

The Times does commercial printing at night prices.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE WINS SASKATCHEWAN BY-ELECTION

Kinistino, Sask., May 23.—Liberal and Farmer Labor groups today were joined in a demand for resignation of the Co-operative government of Premier J. T. M. Anderson in Saskatchewan following the decisive defeat of Hon. Charles McIntosh, Independent Liberal candidate and minister of natural resources in the Anderson cabinet, at the hands of John R. Taylor, official Liberal representative.

Mr. Taylor polled 4,192 votes to 2,213 cast for Mr. McIntosh in yesterday's by-election, leaving the Liberal candidate with a majority of 1,979.

Immediately the election was conceded by Mr. McIntosh, J. J. Gardner, Liberal leader, and M. J. Caldwell, leader of the Farmer-Labor group, conceded the resignation of the government. Strength of the various parties in the legislature is now:

Liberals	27
Conservatives	24
Progressives	5
Independents	5
Vacant	2

In a short statement to the press at Regina when the final results were made known, Mr. Anderson said:

"The electors of Kinistino have made their decision and have decided to remain Liberal. This decision must be accepted."

GORDON BALLHORN ON SELECT JUDGING TEAM

Two of the grain judging teams which will represent Alberta at the world grain congress at Regina in July have been finally selected, as a result of elimination contests held at Olds school of agriculture last week.

The junior judging team of three and alternate will be William Douglas, Lacombe; Gordon Ballhorn, Wetaskiwin; George Darroch, Lacombe; and Paul Billwiler of Hanna. The intermediate team of three and alternate will be Wayne Strong, Claresholm; Wallace Watson, Provost; Donald McFadden, Lacombe; and Herbert Cripps of Clive. The committee of selection which picked the teams was composed of J. P. Andrews, assistant deputy minister of agriculture, E. L. Gray, field crops commissioner, and James Murray, principal, Olds school of agriculture.

Announcement of the selection of the senior judging team will be made later.

CAPITALISTIC MACHINE SHOT SAYS IRVINE

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 23.—"The bonds of Canada are no safer than your ability to pay taxes," Wm. Irvine, M.P., Wetaskiwin, Alta., told a Commonwealth Co-operative Federation rally last night in the course of a vigorous attack on the present economic system. He added that the ability of the people to pay taxes was just about at an end.

The capitalistic system cannot be repaired and is facing inevitable breakdown even if it is restored for a short period, said Mr. Irvine. He declared the system cannot provide for the distribution of its own surplus. As time goes on an opportunity for investment of capital becomes less and the time is coming when its financial structure is bound to collapse, he said.

The world has come to a point, said the speaker, where to pay all its debts in gold is an absurdity that "could not be entertained outside a lunatic asylum."

Defiant of war debts would be the first step in the sweeping away of the debris of the capitalistic system, he added.

Under escort of Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Kenneth and William McLean, father and son, Tennessee mountaineers, alleged murderers of Walter J. Parrish, 50-year-old Manville farmer, who was found dead from a gunshot wound in his home on October 2, 1932, arrived in Edmonton Saturday.

They were extradited from Knoxville, Tenn., where they are alleged to have fled following the slaying of Parrish.

Poultry raisers of Western Canada are finding a market for their products in Great Britain. In the last two months of 1932, 1,500,000 pounds of fresh Saskatchewan and Manitoba turkeys were shipped to British markets.

School Tax Levy Set by M. D. Bigstone Council

A meeting of the Council of M.D. Bigstone No. 459, was held on May 15th. Present: O. J. Hanson, M. H. Unland, O. P. Nelson, Herman Strohschein, J. R. Rickard and F. B. Green.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and adopted.

The Secretary read statement of Returning Officer T. H. Cummins, stating that the result of the poll on stock by-law 35-1932 was 21 votes for the by-law and 31 against, and declaring the by-law defeated.

A petition from ratepayers in the vicinity of Mulhurst was read asking for stock by-law prohibiting stock from running at large in that area. Coun. F. B. Green introduced stock by-law No. 2-1933 prohibiting stock from running at large on sections 2, 11, 14 and fractional 15 in township 47, range 23, West of the 4th Meridian. By-law No. 2-1933 was read first and second times and carried. Secretary was instructed to send certified copies of the by-law to the department for the approval of the Minister.

Application was received from A. Anderson for the polling and caretaking of Mac-McO Beach. This matter was held over until next meeting pending communication with beach committee.

Letter from J. O. Sheppard was read asking approval of council to his application for restaurant license in respect of McLaes' hall, Mac-McO Beach. On motion by Coun. Nelson approval was granted.

Applications were also received from Mrs. Stander and Mr. L. Johnson to operate restaurants at Mulhurst. On motion by Coun. Green, Council's approval was given.

Agreements with the City of Wetaskiwin and the M.D. Montgomery

No. 459 relative to the ownership and operation of Wetaskiwin Community Hospital were presented for consideration. Motion by Coun. Green that these agreements be accepted and that the Reeve and Secretary be authorized to sign same on behalf of the Council and Municipal District of Bigstone. Motion was carried.

Motion by Coun. Green that Council grant direct relief to approved indigent families and that Councilors see that the full amount of relief contributed by Federal and Provincial Governments and the Municipality be worked out on the roads. Motion was lost.

Several residents of Div. 6 were present to interview the Council relative to road work and relief. These matters were left to be dealt with by the local council.

Correspondence in connection with the Wm. Kreutz estate was read. The Secretary was instructed to again take up the matter of taxes with the Administrator of Estates M.I.

Resolution was passed setting the levy in the various School Districts as follows:

Anthony Hill, 6 mills; Bidingier, 7; Pigeon Creek, 10; Mound Red, 11; Pigeon Valley, 11; Fletcher, 11; Ernest Park, 6; Twin Creek, 10; Brightview, 11; Dundonald, 10; Pleasant Prairie, 5; Peace Hills, 7; Bigstone, 8; Lone Ridge, 7; Rapid Creek, 7; Falun, 10; Hillsdale, 11; Grandview, 6; Pipestone, 11; Bonnie Glen, 20; Spring Hill, 15; Canyon Creek, 12; Conjurung Lake (not yet reported); Porto Bello, 8; Centre Lodge, 40.

Bills and paysheets were passed for payment.

The meeting was adjourned on a motion by the Reeve.

Wetaskiwin Member on Sino-Japanese Dispute

The following is a Hansard report of the speech delivered in the House of Commons on May 15th, by Wm. Irvine, M.P. for Wetaskiwin:

In connection with the remarks of the Secretary of State I wish to say pretty much what the leader of the opposition has said. I think the subject which the minister has brought before the house to-day is of very great importance not only to Canada but to the world, and if it was the intention of the government to have it discussed some notice should have been given the house in order that members who are interested in the international situation might have had an opportunity of preparing their material so as to discuss the subject as it ought to be discussed.

I could not always tell when the minister was quoting and when he was speaking for himself, but to me the whole trend of his discourse seemed to be towards the futility of the League of Nations, the futility of the statements made by the peace party, and the virtual declaration that the only hope of protection which any nation has, is in its own individual military powers. If, as the minister so emphatically declared, Canada is not prepared to put one dollar or one man behind the League of Nations, then I do not think we ought to spend one dollar to send delegates over there to make speeches which we cannot back up and which we have no intention of backing up.

During the historical summary of the eastern situation by the minister I could not help noticing that great emphasis was placed upon the international rights of China and upon certain rights which Japan had to the occupation of Manchuria. In this case I think the League of Nations by its inaction has declared to the world as clearly as any declaration could be made in words that the whole idea of the league is impossible and that the institution is impotent. If it had been otherwise, surely the weakness of China to which the minister has referred should have been the chief cause for the League of Nations taking action. But it is stated that China is too weak for us to assist, that her internal troubles are too great and therefore we will let Japan go in with a disciplined force and do what she wants to do.

I am not going to argue this matter because I agree with the minister when he suggests that there should be no pronouncement of opinion on this affair without an adequate knowledge of all the facts. Under the circumstances it would be impossible for any member to become possessed of all the facts necessary to enable him to make a pronouncement. However, I do make this pronouncement: either the League of Nations means something or it means nothing. If it means anything at all, it should endeavour to make effective the steps provided for in its own articles. I venture to suggest that when the minister made the speech to which he referred he did not represent the general opinion of the people of Canada. They had at that time some faith in the League of Nations, they believed that Japan was invading China and it was the duty of the League of Nations to stop that sort of invasion. Instead of doing that the League of Nations did nothing and left the whole situation to time and time was the very thing that Japan required. The invasion is continuing at the present moment. I suggest that there are only two possible courses for Canada to take. The League of Nations should be considered as an instrument of serious use and it should be used as a means of maintaining world peace; we should urge the enforcement of the provisions of the covenant against Japan and we should withdraw our official representatives from Japan as a protest against the invasion of China. We should either do that or throw up our hands as far as the League of Nations is concerned and have nothing more to do with it.

WETASKIWIN INSPECTORATE SCHOOL TRUSTEES' ASSOCIATION

The spring meeting of the Wetaskiwin School Trustees' Association will be held on Saturday, June 10th, at 1 p.m., in the Alexandra Hotel, Wetaskiwin.

The question of teachers' salaries will be a live topic for discussion as the Legislature took no action on the reduction of salaries as requested by resolutions passed by the Trustees' Association, and the meeting will be addressed by Inspector Scottie and Horace C. Sormour, Landscape Engineer, of Edmonton.

Improved conditions were reported in the Alberta cattle export trade, with slightly better prices in Great Britain, and increased shipments now going forward.

His Work

(By W. A. FRASER)

Silently they plodded toward the little ironed house, their tongues stilled by the heavy thoughts that this sudden aging had thrust upon them; for even Danny was whispering in his mind: "I feel as if I'd grown up a heap just today. Guess I'm too cold."

Bedell and the boy came back to the bridge horror alone, and with groping words all through the afternoon and the evening that they made so long by a late sitting.

"Did the men ask you, Dad Jake, if they could break our bridge and fix a new one?" Danny asked as they sat in front of the big chimney fire-place that held smoldering logs. And when Bedell explained that his proprietary rights in the bridge were purely a matter of sentiment, Danny only half understanding asked: "Will it be a good bridge, Dad Jake—will it be safe same's ours was—won't nobody pr'aps get killed?"

Then Bedell, with a long laborious process of simplifying the matter to Danny's comprehension, talked of something that lay heavy on his mind, something that he had been ridiculed for more than once—the flood that would some day come.

"I ought to tell them, Danny," he said, his forehead wrinkled with the painful struggle between his conscience and fear of ridicule; "but they wouldn't listen—they'd only laugh."

"Don't tell 'em, Dad Jake," the boy pleaded. "Don't it hurt when they laugh at a feller? What's it about? Ain't they fixin' it right, dad?"

"I guess it's the new way, Danny; and I guess I'm too old-fashioned, but they wouldn't listen—they'd only laugh."

"That's it, Danny—just common horse sense. And now those engineers are puttin' in deck girders twice as big as mine was—for they weigh ninety tons—and there ain't no tub in him to make them stronger for their size, so they've got to be three or four feet wider—that's up and down, Danny. And they've cut the grade down on the approach some more, too. And they took the coping off the stone piers to let it all drain, and in the new bridge'll be about six or eight feet closer to the river."

Bedell rested in this description to let all this filter into the boy's mind. He passed a hand wearily over his forehead and watched the chubby face.

Danny puzzled for a minute over this tremendous revelation; then he said: "And if a big freshet comes, Dad Jake, same's we had once, time Bill Crampton was drowned at the mill, only bigger, it'll bust the new bridge same's it bust a hole in the dam—ain't that it, Dad?"

"And I've been lookin' for it to come this spring, Danny, 'cause it's snowed more'n it has for twenty years. And it'll sure break up all at once, 'cause it's late now. I feel like as I ought to tell them, Danny—eh?"

The boy's face, the solemn eyes making it curiously old, tortured into grotesque wrinkles as its owner struggled under the grave responsibility of an adviser. His answer was tangential indeed in its apparent irrelevance.

"I had a fight at school today with Billy Black."

Somehow, at that he seemed to lose the connecting link himself, and Bedell asked, humoring the lad's whimsical deviation: "What about, Danny?"

The boy looked away, a flutter of nervous apprehension twitching at his black eyes.

"What you say fight Billy Black about, Danny? Didn't you lick him?"

"I made him cry and give up."

"Braved him the boy added. "He made me mad, Dad Jake and he was just tryin' to. He said the bridge fellows said it was crazy."

Bedell's thin lips curved in a whimsical tired smile. "Pr'aps they were right, Danny," he said presently.

"No, they wasn't, Dad Jake. An' I then I stopped punchin' his nose—an' I had him down, too."

Bedell, tutored by his loving interest in the little orphan, followed without spoken word along the trail and knew that Danny, with his curious elemental reasoning feared that if he spoke to the bridge men about this stupendous matter of the flood, they would take it as a condescending proof of the truth of their superficial reasoning.

"What'd you want me to do, Danny—Gosh! Poor, little tired kiddie—he's noo' asleep."

A pudgy little chin was burrowing in the boy's breast and the head was bobbing as the motive force contained within the slip of control. Bedell gathered Danny in his arms, carrying him to the inner room took off his clothes put on the nightgale. As he pulled the covers over a smile rounded the red lips, and chubby fingers clutched sleepily at his wrist.

"Don't tell—em—Dad Jake—'cause they—tease."

For half an hour the old man sat on the bed, till the soft fingers withdrew from his wrist. Then he went to a window, and the moonlight picked out the black lines of an iron scroll that leaned Black Gorge; and to the right, on a sliding down at the station, were the tantalizing lights of the cars where the bridge gang lived.

Bedell closed the window, something of the fry that had possessed him in the hotel roused by this touch of merit. He stood over the bed, and a faint smile was a sudden look in his eyes.

"No, Danny, I won't interfere; I won't have them teachin' you because they don't understand me."

Bedell kept away from the bridge could see the progress of the work; and by lifting his eyes a little higher they could rest beyond the green pines upon the hill beyond where was his other monument that no man might destroy.

Six weeks had passed and the last span of the new bridge had been fastened home. There was much work to be done yet, but the roadbed was now so good that the trains no longer crawled at a snail's pace over the structure. The watchman at the station end of the bridge set his white light, and slept peacefully in his cabin to wake, perhaps, as the "Midnight" thundered over the mighty steel frame that was so much safer than the old iron one.

The dull rumbling roar of the "Midnight" echoing up Black Gorge always roused Bedell from his sleep; it was like the growl of a savage beast—a triumphant snarl; the shrill whistle of the engine was a derisive note of victory. He would lay awake for hours tortured by the thought that his life's work, that he had thought an enduring monument, had crumbled to nothing before his own frail body had passed.

Warm days had melted the snow till the creeks ran full, and Crooked River brimmed. The ice in the mill pond, honeycombed to rottenness by the sun and lifted by the flood, had broken into huge cakes that swirled and heaved, battered and tortured by a thousand logs that drove at the holding wall of the dam.

One evening a storm that had threatened all day broke, and the warm rain poured down in torrents. The bridge workers were driven from their labor of riveting home the last stays and braces; but they went cheerfully to the living cars down by the station; and Engineer Young looked with quiet tolerance at the waters that fretted and fumed against the great stone pier of old Jake's building. What mattered the petulant rage of the waters when his great steel girders would now keep safe the "Midnight" from their smothering flood.

Bedell paced the floor of his ironed cottage like an animal made restless by the warring elements.

Danny, huddled up in a rocking-chair watched him furtively. Once he asked: "Is the big freshet comin' to-night, Dad Jake? It's a dreadful storm outside; it's jess like men was cryin' down in the hollow."

"Taint nothin' but the logs grindin' on the ice, Danny," Bedell answered; "I'll just go and see if it's goin' to clear."

The wind tore the door from his grasp as he opened it, and the lamp flared up from the gust.

A hundred yards higher up the mill dam writhed like a maelstrom; and the walls of Black Gorge echoed the booming roar of the cataract that overflowed the gates.

Suddenly a flash of lightning glimmered ghostlike and revealed a white rampart of ice backed up against the dam, studded with the black form of some of them rising out of the ice waste like posts.

As Bedell slipped a heavy raincoat from his shoulders on his return to the cottage, Danny said: "Is the big freshet comin' to-night, Dad Jake? Makes me feel kinder 'frail'."

The old man lighted his pipe with slow deliberation before he answered the boy's question.

"It is comin' then, Dad Jake, 'cause you don't want to tell, I ain't 'frail' only 'cause you're old, dad."

"I ought to go and tell Mr. Young," Bedell said musingly. He was pacing the floor his teeth grinding at the thought of his pipe, which had died out after the first few puffs.

"Wouldn't they laugh, wouldn't they—wouldn't they think—wouldn't they say something that'd make you feel bad?"

"I ought to tell them anyway," the old man persisted, "without looking at the little figure curled up in the chair."

"No, you hadn't ought to, dad. Would it be any use, 'cause they didn't ask you if you might fix your bridge?"

Bedell ceased his restless, cagard animal-like paces in front of the boy, and tried to explain his torturing sense of allegiance to even the memory of the bridge.

"When the bridge builders had all gone away and the new bridge finished, I thought I wouldn't have anything to say."

"But you ain't got nothin' to say now, Dad Jake—they acted mean."

The old man took a couple of turns in silence. He was startled from the mental combat that held his speech in abeyance by the bell of a wooden clock.

"It's eleven!" he said; "in an hour the midnight express will be over, and then 'twon't matter so much, Danny. They can't nothin' be done. Pr'aps the dam'll hold, anyway. If it holds for an hour, anything I could say wouldn't matter, for—"

"He stopped, and raised his head, craning his ear toward the door. The boy held his breath, frightened by the startled look in the old man's face. In the deathly quiet a horse moaning sound carried to their ears. Bedell threw open the door.

"It's the whistle at the mill!" he painted; "the night watchman's call for help—the dam's breaking! But they can't hear him at the village; the steam's low, and the whistle's clogged with water. I'll be back in a minute—don't be afraid, Danny."

As he spoke the old man slipped into his raincoat, thrust through the door, and raced to the top of the hill above the mill.

"Tom! Hoo-ee-ee Tom!" His voice pitched to a scream, tortured by the wind and deadened by the crunching grind of the ice, smothered to oblivion within a hundred feet. He flung down the bank, slipping and sliding, bruised against stumps and muddy hillocks of eroded earth; on frail body flung and pushed, he blinded drunkenly at one side of the dam.

"Is it breakin', Tom?" he cried, clutching the watchman's arm.

"It's goin'!" Tom roared. "Goin' to hell—nothin' on God's earth can save it. The gate's breakin' up, and in half an hour—"

The watchman's voice was drowned by a crash of timbers as something broke.

Bedell turned and raced back to the cottage. He seized a lantern, speaking in hurried words as he lighted it: "You wait here, Danny—I'm goin' to get the bridge watchman to flag the train."

The boy jumped from the chair, and seizing his boots pulled them on. "I'm goin' too, Dad Jake, 'cause you can't see in the dark same's me."

"No, Danny—"

"I'm goin' got to go! Please, Dad Jake. I can see in the dark, an' if you got hurt how'd I know?"

He had a muffled about his neck and his cap on. Then the two, hand in hand, ran stumblingly along the hill path that had been worn by Bedell's feet as he made his daily pilgrimage to the bridge. The red coat, wet and slippery, treacherous to their feet, threw Bedell twice before they were half-way; and at the turn of a path he went down with a vengeance, floundered over the soggy earth.

"We got to hurry," Bedell gasped as he slipped down into the hollow beside the high grade of the bridge approach.

As they struck the track, from far up in the distance a bounding train came to their ears.

"The dam's gone!" Bedell cried; "God grant that we're in time for the train!"

With his clenched fist he banged on the door of the watchman's shelter and pushed through with a vengeance, eluding at the latch.

He stepped from within thrust his face, staring vacantly at the yawning gash in the iron way. A yellow flare like a rising moon on the horizon caught his eye—it was the headlight of the "Midnight" far down the track; a red star bobbed grotesquely up and down as it slipped down, and he peered into the pallid face of Bedell: "You're old man Jake, ain't you?"

On the floor of the shelter rested a lighted lantern. Bedell, stretching his hand toward it, and speaking rapidly, said: "Let me take this in the flag the 'Midnight'—the dam's broke, an' the bridge may be swept away."

A powerful heavy hand fell upon his arm.

"Aisy, o' man! I'm runnin' the train. Beat get back t' your home! I've no time for fool notions t'night. There ain't no dam bustin'; an' if there is, what th' hell do I care—this bridge ain't a wooden culvert."

The tantalizing stupidity of the thick-headed watchman roused the excited Bedell.

"Let me take the red light," he panted.

He struggled to free himself from the other's grasp. As he twisted, the watchman caught sight of the boy. Still holding Bedell, he said: "Sonny, get th' old man t' go home—he's got plumb lonesome at last!" And he shoved Bedell out to the track.

"Let me go! Oh, God! Man, give me the light—the dam's broke!"

As they swayed back and forth, the burly watchman clinging tenaciously to the strutting man, Danny darted into the shelter, seized the red light, and as he came out with it, Bedell cried:

"Run, Danny! Flag the train."

With an oath, the watchman tried to spring at the boy; but Bedell clung on, clutching at his throat. And the boy who had raced over the old bridge many a time in sport, darted fearlessly across the ties.

The watchman drove his fist with staggering force into Bedell's chest. As the old man reeled from the blow, the bridge trembled; a crunching roar like the grind of an avalanche filled the gorge; a white wall rose up out of the darkness on the upper side of the deck girders.

As the watchman, half paralyzed, drew shudderingly back, he saw Bedell straighten up, and start to follow the blinking red light that was now half-way across.

"Come back!" The watchman's voice was smothered as the white wall combed an avalanche of logs and ice, and crunched through the bridge, sweeping with irresistible fury closer and closer until it rested on the farther side of Black Gorge and started evilly at him.

By its light he saw men creeping like ants out on the bridge to the black rent; then a shrill boy's voice called over the flood:

"Dad Jake! Dad Jake!"

As the watchman tried to answer, something broke; he buried his heavy face in his grimy hands and wept like a child. — Canadian National Magazine.

PREPARING FOR WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

Some 1,500 delegates representing sixty nations are expected to attend the world economic conference in London, England, which, it is expected, the organizing committee will summon for June 12. This is the best news London hotels and shops have had since the world slump. Various legations and embassies are already arranging receptions and dinners for the conference. The sessions will be held, appropriately enough, in the London Geological Museum. Around a spacious hall 100 feet long by 150 feet wide, supported by towering pillars, the London post office is now rigging up telephone and telegraph facilities, which, it claims, makes London the "switchboard of the world." In the center of the room is a titanic twelve-ton statue of Hercules to inspire the modern Atlantes in their work.

WETASKIWIN O.R.P. LADIES ATTEND ANNIVERSARY

In honor of the first anniversary of the Camrose Royal Lodge, nineteen members of the Wetaskiwin Royal Purple lodge were invited to attend the regular session of the organization last evening. The Hon. Royal Lady, Mrs. C. J. Duggan, had kindly offered her spacious home for a supper which was served previous to the meeting. The visitors arrived by bus about 7:30 p.m., and the buffet supper was served soon after their arrival. Purple stocks in silver vases, purple candles in silver holders and a dainty first anniversary cake frosted in pale mauve were used in the decorative scheme for the beautifully appointed table where Mrs. Archie Campbell and Mrs. John Macree poured coffee. The members of the Camrose lodge assisted the hostess with serving. At the Elks' hall later in the evening, the visitors were participants in the lodge ceremonies. Altogether the evening was very happy and successful. The Wetaskiwin guests were: Mrs. Condie, Hon. Royal Lady, Mrs. Burkhoffer, Mrs. Chiddy and Mrs. O'Neill, past Hon. Royal Ladies; Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Cornell, Mrs. Bourque, Miss Eyle, Mrs. Eyle, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Redman, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Smith—Canadian.

OPERATION IS DELICATE

A surgical operation on mosquitoes to eradicate it must be performed under the microscope, is the latest step in treatment of a dreadful form of human insanity, known as malaria. The operation on the mosquitoes consists of removing their salivary glands, which are so small they cannot be seen with a magnifying glass at least 20 times. The malaria germs are carried by the mosquitoes in these glands, and surgeons can see the glands contents to give parents patients "artificial mosquito bites."

SPEED!

Time counts when you're in pain! Insist on Aspirin, not only for its safety but for its speed.

Aspirin tablets dissolve at once. They are many minutes faster than remedies that are offered in their stead.

If you saw Aspirin made, you would know why it has such uniform, dependable action. If you have ever timed it, you know that it dissolves and gets to work before a slower tablet has any effect.

Stick to Aspirin. You know what you are taking. You know it is harmless; nothing in these tablets to depress the heart. You know you will get results. For headaches, colds, neuralgia, rheumatism, the safe and certain relief is—Aspirin.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Housecleaning Suggestions

Are you tired of your house? Does it look old and dingy to you? If so, you can easily change it.

Organize your housecleaning. Plan each day's work, figuring only as much as you can finish in one day. In this way, your whole house will not be upset at one time.

Cover up the scratches on woodwork with paint to match. Clean the wall-paper.

COOKING HINTS

Fresh Strawberry Frosting

Mash fresh strawberries through a colander to a thick smooth paste. Add enough confectioners' sugar to make frosting thick enough to spread.

Cheese Turnovers

(Dandy for Parties)

Slice bread very thin. Cut off crusts. Spread with butter and then cheese. Roll up and fasten together with tooth picks. Just before serving, toast carefully. Serve while hot.

Quick Apple Sauce

Wash apples. Cut up with skins on. Boil until tender. Remove from fire and stir apples through colander thus removing skins and seeds. Sweeten.

The flavor and food value of apple sauce cooked in this manner is really superior to apple sauce made by peeling and coring apples.

BAKING HINTS

Date Kisses

2 egg whites beaten stiff.
1 cup of walnut meats, chopped.
1 cup of confectioners' sugar.
1 cup of chopped dates.

Mix well. Drop from spoon and bake until light brown. Butter pan lightly as kisses brown easily.

Banana Pudding

1/2 small loaf of bread.
1 1/2 tablespoons of butter.
4 bananas.
2 eggs.
2 1/2 cups of milk.

1/4 cup of sugar.
Juice of 1 lemon.

Method: Butter a baking dish. Alternate layers of buttered bread and sliced bananas. Sprinkle bananas with lemon juice. Beat eggs well. Add sugar and milk. Pour over bananas and bread. Bake slowly 1 hour. Tart jelly may be substituted for lemon juice. Serve cold.

Cheese Biscuits

2 cups of flour.
Salt.
3/4 cup of milk.
4 teaspoons of baking powder.
1 tablespoon of fat.

1/2 cup of grated cheese.
Method: Sift dry ingredients. Rub in fat. Add milk and grated cheese. Shape and place on buttered tin and bake in a hot oven.

To Prevent Cake Sticking to Pan

Often when one greases a cake pan with butter the cake unfortunately sticks. This can be avoided and butter still be used with which to grease pan. Method:

Melt the butter first. Set to cool. The salt and water will separate and the fat will rise to the top.

Use the top fat to grease your pans.

To Clean Dark Floors

Add 2 tablespoons of kerosene to soapy water. This will clean boards and destroy any kind of insects that might be in the cracks.

To Remove Tar from Rugs

Place rug in the sunshine near heat if possible. When tar softens remove with a knife. After this rub spot with gasoline—Copyright.

THE HUMAN BODY DEVELOPS FROM ONE MINUTE CELL

"Great oaks from little acorns grow." The human body develops from one minute cell. It seems almost incredible that our complex bodies with their highly specialized tissues and organs all have their beginning in the same single cell, the simplest form of life. The one cell, which is the beginning of life, multiplies and multiplies until it has produced the millions of cells which make up the human body. We do not know what causes the cell to multiply, this factor is the spark of life itself.

As all parts of the body have their common origin in one cell, so do they remain interdependent throughout life. A healthy body is healthy in all its parts. Disease in any one part affects the whole structure.

(Issued by the Publicity Commissioner, Government Buildings, Edmonton, May 20, 1933.)

Traffic to Alberta Parks

Although complete figures for the numbers of visitors to Alberta national parks for 1932 are not yet available, the figures for the 1931-32 season up to March, 1932, have just been issued in printed form from Ottawa. Traffic to the parks, while showing some decrease, was fairly well sustained in spite of depressed conditions. Banff National Park had 78,821 autos registered during the season, with about 137,000 passengers bound westward through the park. Jasper Park had just over 11,000 visitors, 600 of whom came in by motor over the partly-gravelled highway from Edmonton. Waterton Lakes had 11,677 autos, carrying 43,391 people, showing that the popularity of the beautiful little park in the southwestern part of the province adjoining Glacier Park, is well sustained. Watnwright buffalo park, which had a buffalo population of about 6,300 head at the beginning of 1932 had 13,461 visitors, an increase from the previous year, while Elk Island Park, a popular spot just east of Edmonton, had 28,988 visitors during the period reported on.

Trout for Cold Lake

The experiment of colonizing Cold Lake, in the north-eastern part of Alberta, with speckled trout, is being undertaken this summer by the fisheries branch of the provincial lands department. About 500 of the fish will be introduced into the waters of the lake at the beginning of June, being brought from Jasper Park hatcheries. It is believed that since the trout have done well in the cold water of mountain lakes, they ought to have similar success in Cold Lake, where there is already a considerable fishing industry.

Record University Year

Registrations at the Alberta University for the term just closed totaled 1965, constituting a new record for the institution, which is this year celebrating its 25th anniversary. Of the total number 1555 were registered for the full courses during the fall and winter term. Others included the summer session registrations, and those in similar special courses. Distributing by faculties, the registrations were as follows: 787 in arts and sciences, 281 in applied science, 235, of whom 63 were full-time, in agriculture, 342 in medicine, 47 in the school of pharmacy, 31 in the school of education, 12 in the Bachelor of Divinity course, 31 in the school of education, 12 in the Bachelor of Divinity course, 181 in the summer session and 18 graduate students.

Winners of Poultry Tests

Winners of the provincial poultry branch 100-day winter trapnest test are again found in central and northern Alberta. Mr. A. Gibb of Dunstable, Alberta, wins 1st prize with a flock of Barred Plymouth Rocks, of which 87.5 per cent qualified for certificates. Messrs. Gibb Bros. of South Edmonton come 2nd, with 71.8 per cent of their flock of Rhode Island Reds qualifying. Third place goes to Eri Wilkie of Big Valley with Barred Plymouth Rocks, over 70 per cent of the birds qualifying. The 100-day winter trapnest test has been carried on under the direction of the poultry branch, Alberta department of agriculture, since 1927 when 11 flocks were entered. The big year was 1931-32 with an entry of 60 flocks. For the present year, owing to general economic conditions, the size of the entry has been considerably reduced, being 41 flocks.

To qualify for a certificate in the trapnest test which runs from Nov. 1st to March 1st, a bird must lay 50 or more eggs averaging two ounces in

SWAT THE FLY

(By Dr. William J. Scholes)

History records no more determined and successful campaign of extermination than that waged against the well-known house-fly. And it has been amply justified. Flies have been responsible for the spread of more disease than any other single vermin to health.

Whatever theory for their existence may be correct, the fact remains that they are a menace to public health, and should be exterminated. If the future develops that they were a blessing in disguise, as destroyers of harmful micro-organisms, we can in turn find other ways to dispose of these forms of life.

The first step in the process of meeting the fly menace is to keep them out of the house by screening all windows and doors. Screens should be kept up from May to November.

Next in order is disposing of those that do get into the house. The most recent instrument devised for this purpose is the "swatter," with which we are all familiar. Fly-swatters are inexpensive, in fact, many merchants give them away as advertising media. All members of the household should be members of a vigilance committee and co-operate in the war against the intruders. Don't leave it all to mother.

The more antique methods of extermination are poison fly paper and the well known Tanglefoot. Both are useful, provided they are kept where the baby will not drink the one or father sit on the other. Poison paper has the disadvantage of causing the corpses of flies to be scattered throughout the house.

Too many people, going on the theory that "familiarity breeds contempt," regard the house-fly as a more or less harmless insect. In so doing they are aiding and abetting an enemy of humankind who has taken an enormous toll of life. It is usually the apparently harmless factors that are the most dangerous.

Make one of your mottos for this summer, "Swat the fly!" remembering that every time you dispose of one you are not destroying just that one, but three million possible descendants.—Copyright.

BANKERS ADVISE ADVERTISING

Merchants who do not advertise are invited to read the following from the American Bankers Magazine, as it might give them a new slant on business—your own business—as well as the matter of building up your town.

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad. In each use of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a 2-line space. A stranger, picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the not desirable thing an advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the wide-awake and liberal advertising business men."

NOW YOU TELL ONE

"Big Bill," king of porkers, is dead. Heralded by his owner, Walter Chappell of Martin, Tennessee, as the world's biggest hog, "Big Bill" tipped the scales at 2,550 pounds. Chappell planned to fatten him up to 3,000 pounds and take him to Chicago for the Century of Progress Exhibition.

"Big Bill" was willing, but a foreleg broke under the strain of so much poundage and caused paralysis. Chappell, tears in his eyes, ordered the heavyweight Poland China hog to be chloroformed, and today a taxidermist here had been commissioned to make "Big Bill's" size a thing for future generations to marvel at.

Palpitation of the Heart Nerves So Bad Could Not Sleep

Mrs. Fred Bingham, Swift Current, Sask., writes:—"I was bothered with palpitation of the heart, and my nerves were so bad I could not sleep. I had several operations which seemed to make me worse every time."

I was getting desperate and confided my trouble to a friend who recommended me to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I purchased a box and got such relief I would gladly recommend them to all who are troubled as I was."

For sale at all drug and general stores; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"Fresh from the Gardens"

Canadian Garden Service

(By Gordon Lindsay Smith)

Common Errors

Two of the most common errors in gardening are sowing seed too deep and allowing plants to grow too close together. As a general rule three times the diameter of the seed is the proper depth to sow. This means merely pressing things like lettuce, turnips and radish into the soil, but covering the larger seeds such as corn, beans, peas and beets to a depth of about an inch. With flowers, the finer sorts like Alyssum and Poppies should be sown on top of the ground and barely pressed in. Some of the very fine seeds are best mixed with a little dry sand and the mixture sown, to avoid sowing too thick. Bulbs and tubers such as potatoes, gladioli and dahlias are put in from six to eight inches. Thinning is just as important. With flowers the rule to follow is to allow half as much space between as the plants are high. In every seed catalogue the height of the mature plant is given. Suppose one is working with the ordinary type Zinnia. When fully grown this will be a bushy plant about 18 inches high and almost the same across, therefore it should be thinned to stand about ten inches apart. Not only will such thinning result in stouter plants but they will also be more bushy and symmetrical. Even the quick growing leaf lettuce and radish should be thinned, though an inch between plants will be enough. Beans, peas and corn being big seeds are sown at the proper distance, that is at least three inches apart and in the case of corn in rows of six inches. Two inches apart will be enough for beans and carrots. Of course this does not allow full development but when the plants begin to fill up the space, half of them should be taken out and used.

Equipment

Gardening is very inexpensive in the way of necessary equipment. With a rake, a small hoe and a spade one can accomplish wonders, though if the place is a large one, it is advisable to have a few more tools. At this time of year, a string and a few stakes for making straight rows will come in handy. One of the small garden tractors which cultivate, seeds, and even plows will take the place of a horse. Later on when it is necessary to cultivate once a week, first to conserve the moisture and secondly to destroy weeds, a five-toothed, hand cultivator costing less than two dollars will save hours of tiring work with the hoe. Of the latter implement there are several sizes available. Some are pushed ahead and being very sharp they shave off weeds between trees and close to rows which are usually hard placed to reach with the ordinary hoe. A digging fork in ordinary garden soil is to be preferred to a spade. For the flower garden a trowel and hand digging fork about ten inches long will be found useful.

Climbing Vines

Of the flowering sorts of climbing vines, the first to bloom is the Wistaria. This comes out with the daffodils, early in the spring, with sometimes a second crop of flowers in August. It is rather slow in becoming established, requires a deep root bed and is somewhat tender. The fragrant blue-flowered wistaria is followed in floral display by climbing roses growing over trellises, arbors or pergolas. Two varieties of clematis are recommended the Jackmanni, which produces huge purple bloom but little foliage and therefore should be planted with another vine, and the Ranculata, furnishing a sheet of white starlike flowers for about two weeks. The scarlet Trumpet Honeysuckle is another splendid permanent vine. Its foliage, a deep green, comes early and is retained late, therefore making it an ideal screen. It flowers freely and is very fragrant. The silvery lace vine blooms during late summer and is a rapid grower. There is nothing better for covering walls of brick or stone than Boston ivy in the warmer districts of Canada and in the Garden Fruit.

ALL-BRAN STOPPED HIS SLEEPLESSNESS AND TIRED FEELING

Cereal Relieved His Constipation

Read this enthusiastic letter from Mr. Haraden:

"My system had been run down for quite some time. About three weeks ago, I started taking ALL-BRAN for breakfast. I had been unable to sleep nights, but now all I have to do is turn in, and before I know it, I am fast asleep."

"I used to have a tired feeling all day, but now that ALL-BRAN is my home to stay, there will be no more tired feelings with me."—Mr. Carl Haraden (address furnished upon request).

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help move the intestinal tract. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this safer than taking pills and drugs—often harmful! Just eat two tablespoons daily for most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

the special clinging type Virginia creepers in districts where the climate is more rigorous. If one wants a vigorous and rapid grower, when once established, the Dutchman's Pipe will fit in well, producing huge leaves of a light green. For those who want a screen in a hurry there are plenty of annuals from which to choose, such as the Cardinal Climber, Cobaea, Morning Glory, Gourd, Climbing Nasturtium, Canary Bird Flower, Scarlet Runner Bean, and Humulus, a rapid growing Japanese type of hops.

Garden Fruit

Some people desire to include some fruit with the garden. A summer apple like Yellow Transparent, Astrachan or Melba can be chosen for dessert purposes, or Duchess for cooking; for early winter the McIntosh or Delicious; and for late winter, the Northern Spy. In the Prairie Provinces or Northern Quebec or Ontario, there are some new hardy types as well as good crabapples available. Among sweet cherries, Windsor, Bing and Tartarian are recommended, while Montmorency and Early Richmond are standards of the other type. Clapp's Favorite is one of the best pears, coming very early, while Bartlett is a good later sort. Plums are grown almost anywhere in Canada, as well as currants, raspberries, strawberries, blackberries, thimble berries, Logan berries and gooseberries. Grapes are fairly hardy, and among the best are the Lindley, Brighton and Delaware.

NORSEMAN MARK INDEPENDENCE DAY

Edmonton, May 19. — Celebrating the 119th anniversary of the independence of their motherland 100 guests and members of the Edmonton branch of Solvay Lodge (Sons of Norway) gathered for their annual banquet in the Tivoli Wednesday evening.

E. Elks, president of the lodge, presided, and P. G. Hoyne, was toastmaster. After dinner, speeches lauded the achievement and zealous work done by 112 representatives who drafted the Grandvot, the national code of Norway, on May 17, 1814, which was accepted in the Union with Sweden.

Here and There

What is probably the world's farthest north golf course is located at Chesterfield Inlet on the northern shore of Hudson Bay in latitude 67. There are only four members and the fee which entitles the player to life membership, is ten polar bear teeth.

An increase of over half a million head in the number of cattle on farms is recorded in a report on livestock in Canada for 1932, just issued by the Canadian government Bureau of Statistics, with 8,511,100 head, compared with 7,991,000 in 1931.

The eye operation on His Majesty King Prajadhipok of Siam, in the summer of 1931 in the United States, has been so successful that there will be no need of a further operation, according to Dr. Vidhivaj, public health director of Bangkok, who came to Vancouver recently aboard Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan.

A duck hunt in the once private lake of the Chinese Emperors in the Poyhadden City near Peking with a Chinese general as host and armed soldiers as guides was the experience described by the Earl of Osoy on his arrival at Vancouver recently in the Empress of Japan from a seven-month tour of China.

Paradise Valley, east of Lake Louise, in the Canadian Rockies, is the site selected for this year's summer camp of the Alpine Club of Canada from July 15 to 31. Some of the most spectacular scenery in this region will be covered by the club—including the unclimbed peak of Mount Biffel, in the shadow of which their camp will be pitched.

Close on 250,000 people viewed the crack London, Midland and Scottish flyer the "Royal Scot" on its way to the Chicago World Fair, as it passed through Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton over Canadian Pacific lines. Re-assembled at the C. P. R. Angus Shops after landing from the fast freighter Beaverdale, the Royal Scot passed through eastern Canada in a veritable triumph.

Inaugurating what Canadian railway officials believe will be one of the greatest rail travel movements in the history of the country, C. P. R. Riddell, chairman, Canadian Passenger Association, announces that commencing this month and extending into June, Canadian railways will establish a rate of one cent a mile for coach travel between points in eastern and western Canada and return. This constitutes an all-time low in Canadian passenger fares, and sales commence from western Canada May 26 up to and including June 8, and from eastern Canada May 21 up to and including June 15.

Three out of five Strathcona Memorial Fellowships in transportation given annually by the graduate school of Yale University have been awarded to Canadian Pacific Railway employees or sons of employees. There was a total of 80 applicants for these fellowships. The three C. P. R. awards were to S. M. Gossage, stereographer in the office of the general manager, eastern lines; P. E. Savage, son of J. K. Savage, general superintendent, Quebec district; and Robert A. Emerson, son of B. H. Emerson, agent at Morden, Manitoba.

Eczema or Salt Rheum A Troublesome Skin Disease

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Eczema manifests itself in little round blisters which contain an extremely irritating fluid. They break, and subsequently a crust is formed, and the intense burning, itching and smarting is almost unbearable.

Burdock Blood Bitters is the remedy for giving relief to all such sufferers.

Mrs. H. J. Frost, R.R. 2, Belleville, Ont., writes—"I was troubled with eczema on my face, in fact all over my body. It would raise up in water blisters, break and scab over which was very irritating."

A friend told me about Burdock Blood Bitters, and it proved of wonderful help to me."

A SQUARE PEG in a Round Hole
You may be alright, but if you are in the wrong position you are like a square peg in a round hole. You want a position where you fit. This paper is read by intelligent business men, and a Want Ad. in our classified columns will reach them.

---and and this to your profits

NO ONE can deny a man the right to spend his dollar where he may choose. It is his privilege to make his dollar produce the utmost in value. The decision as to where that value is to be found is, whether right or wrong, his to make. A tip on how to make the dollar go farther is permissible, however, and we suggest that you think about this:

THE LOWEST PRICE does not always mean the best buy. Comparative quality and many other things enter into the transaction. But let us take two identical articles ---one here, at home---the other out of town. Let's suppose the out-of-town price is lower delivered to your door by 5c or 75c than the purchase you can make at home. But it is not the most economical buy. That money is gone for good; it will never return to you; whereas if spent at home---well, here's an illustration:

A SHOEMAN owes a baker $2.00 and gives him $1.00, thus discharging fifty per cent of his debt. The baker owes a farmer $2.00 for potatoes, so he pays the farmer half his debt with the dollar. The farmer purchases a pair of $2.00 shoes, paying $1.00 down. The shoeman uses the dollar to cancel his debt to the baker, the baker to the farmer, and the farmer pays for his shoes. The shoeman has paid his debt, made a sale and still has his original capital. So have the baker and farmer. That's COMMUNITY business. Three persons have made a profit on $1.00 and it's still in the community to make more.

Dollar Doublers
Our Classified Want Ads. are real dollar doublers. In three months and seven days they will save you many times their cost by helping you to get the most out of your money. Whether you are a dealer or a consumer, a partner or a customer, a Want Ad. in our classified columns will reach them.

It Goes to The Home
Our paper goes to the home and is read and welcomed there. If you wish to reach the housewife, the real arbitress of domestic destinies, you can do so through our paper and our Classified Want Ads. Turn an interesting and well-read portion of it.

Reaching the People
A prominent real estate dealer in Toronto says that he gets better and quicker results from the Classified Want Ads. than from any other kind of publicity. He states that the results are out of proportion to the small expense involved. There is a moral in that for you if you want to reach the people.

YEARS AGO people used to make themselves heard by shouting from the house tops. If you tried that to-day you would probably have to appear before a commission in insanity. NOW-A-DAYS the business man uses our Want Ads.

COURAGE

Abraham Lincoln told the story of a young recruit on his first march to battle in the great civil war who, feeling his knees shaking violently, looked down upon them and said: "Shake away, old knees, I am going to take you to lots worse places than this."

A great statesman, one of England's most powerful, effective and convincing orators, on being asked if he approached a debate with a sense of complete assurance, replied: "That day when my knees do not tremble as I rise to speak, that day do I cease to speak."

Here lies the very essence of courage. A reverent fear of one may fall short of one's best effort is the most effective stimulus to greater zeal and achievement.

We may have to move with caution and even timidity in such days as these, but the rewards of real, intelligent courage are as sure as the rising of the sun.

William Henry Burton Cooks walked into Vancouver Thursday from Halifax, but he is going to ride back. He is planning to ride back on a bicycle in a trans-Canada bicycle race from Vancouver to Montreal in August.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Wallace announce the marriage of their daughter Dora, to Mr. Theodore Edgar Williams, son of Mrs. M. Williams of South Edmonton, on Saturday, April 29th, at Holy Trinity Church, Edmonton. Rev. G. G. Reynolds officiating minister.

SHEARING WITHOUT SHEARS

Sheep which need no shearing, and living rabbits, cats and dogs with fur dyed in geometrical patterns, are the results of eight years' of experiments by a young Soviet scientist. The scientist, Professor Illin, treated a flock of 2,500 sheep with chemicals. Ten or twelve days later, says the Tass Agency, they shed their wool. It took between three and seven minutes to remove all the wool from each sheep compared with an average of forty minutes for shearing. The artificial removing of the wool has already made it possible to obtain 12 per cent. more wool. The wool itself is some two-thirds of an inch longer than when sheared. Next year Professor Illin will be given 35,000 sheep for his experiments. Experiments for the stimulation of the growth of wool have been conducted along two lines by the use of chemicals. By use of infra-red and ultra-violet rays, rabbits are reported to have yielded nearly twice as much down and fur after treatment. The professor considers that the stimulation of sheep's wool can best be achieved by the combined use of chemicals and rays. Rabbits, cats and dogs, whose white fur is enlivened by colored squares, parallel ograms, triangles and stars, may be seen walking about in Professor Illin's laboratory. By his dyeing process he has turned white rabbits into black ones, and made sable and martens darker, thus considerably increasing their value.
